Registration for Post Summer Session Slated

Registration for courses to be offered during the four-week post session at El Camino College will be conducted in the Communications Center Friday, Leo M. Christian, dean of admissions and records, has announced.

Former students will enroll for classes from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., with new students signing for classes from 10 to 11 a.m. The dean stressed that all enrollments will be conducted during these two hours and that no late registration will be accepted.

Classes for the post session, which will extend from Aug. 9 through Sept. 3, will represent the fields of art, biological science, business, economics, English, geology, health education, history, music, political science, psychology, sociology, speech arts and zoology.

"Registrants," Christian announces, "must be legal residents of the El Camino College District or the Los Angeles Contract Area. They must be 18 years of age or older or high school graduates."

"ALL REGISTRANTS must comply with California law regarding poliomyelitis immunization," the dean stresses.

Christian also emphasizes the urgency of students planning to attend the fall session to initiate enrollment procedures without further delay. Delay in registering, he observes, often causes problems in securing desired programs of study.

Information pertaining to both the post session and the fall session is currently available in the counseling and registration offices, both located in the Administration Building of El Camino College.

THS Aide To Retire From Post

Seventeen years of service to the high school students of Torrance and a lifetime devoted to educating youngsters have been rewarded by the Torrance Board of Education.

Miss Carmolita Rous, assistant principal at Torrance High School, who is retiring this summer, was presented with a certificate of recognition of service and leadership by William Hanson, vice-president of the board, in the absence of president Mrs. Kenneth Watts.

Her service of Torrance youngsters also was commended by Dr. J. H. Hull, superintendent of schools.

EMPLOYED by the school district in 1948 as a science teacher at Torrance High, Miss Rous had formerly been affiliated with schools in Riverside and Garden Grove and had been on the faculty of Ventura Junior College. She earned both a bachelor's and a master's degree in science from the University of Southern California.

After teaching science for five years at Torrance High, Miss Rous was named girls' advisor in January, 1953. She became girls' advisor at South High in September, 1957. Five years later she returned to Torrance High School as an assistant principal.

Reciprocal Library Service Approved by Commissioners

Reciprocal library service between the cities of Torrance and Los Angeles has been approved in principle by the Los Angeles Board of Library Commissioners. This move opens the way for residents of the two cities to use libraries in either city without payment of a special fee.

City Councilman John S. Gibson Jr. was notified of the action which he had urged for some time. Reciprocal service had been provided in the past, and when it was discontinued earlier this year, Gibson called upon both parties to restore the previous arrangement.

The Los Angeles Library Commission authorized and encouraged the agreement. Reciprocal agreements already exist with a number of other cities including Alhambra, Burbank, Glendale, Inglewood, Long Beach, South Pasadena, and the Los Angeles County Public Library.

"WE THINK the principle of reciprocal service is an excellent one as long as neither city suffers a financial loss," said Commission President Albert A. Le Vine. "While this will give residents in the shoe-string area of Los Angeles easy access to the libraries in Torrance, it will also make available to Torrance residents the resources of our Central Library which is a research center unmatched by any public library in the West."

Gibson was informed that the Los Angeles Public Library is prepared to institute the reciprocal agreement on a provisional basis pending the writing of a legal document.

Steele School Ends Summer School Program With Circus

The circus came to Torrance last week.

Performers ranged from wide-eared elephants to a pretty pink-clad tightrope walker. They included monkeys, horses, panthers, camels, lions, clowns, balloons, boys, jack-in-the-boxes and—for good measure — Goldilocks and the Three Trained Bears.

Their performance was accompanied by a big brass band, and a packed house was filled with friends, relatives, and classmates of the performers.

The big top was the cafeteria of Carl Steele Elementary School, and the circus performers were kindergarten students of Mrs. Dorothy Goodwin and Mrs. Lela Belle Wolfert, who decided to demonstrate summer school studies of animals by dramatizing what they had learned.

The "big brass band" was the school band directed by Jerry Andrews. Following the singing of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "Animal Fair," singing and dancing acts were presented by each of the animal groups in the first ring. A tightrope performance on a school bench and the dramatization of the story of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" was featured in the second ring. The third ring highlighted musical presentations by the clowns, balloons, and jack-in-the-boxes.

The program concluded with the singing of "Row, Row, Row Your Boat" and "Are You Sleeping," simultaneously, by the entire cast.

CELEBRATES 10TH YEAR

Robert J. Deegan, of 23720 Susana Ave., was honored on the occasion of his 10th anniversary with Allstate Insurance Companies. An agent in the companies' sales office in the Sears store in Torrance, Deegan received a gold pin in recognition of his anniversary.

NEW BANK POST

Robert M. Correia has been named assistant manager of the Pacific Coast Highway-Crenshaw office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank. He will transfer to the Torrance office from the bank's South Bay office in Redondo Beach, where he served as operations officer.

MOUNTING INSECTS . . . Sharon Williams and Steven Overby mount a specimen of Erebus Odora, better known as the Black Witch, on a display board during a work session at Waleria School. The moth, one of the largest known species, is but one of several which students in George McCoy's fourth and fifth grade class have collected this summer. The insects were displayed Friday during an art show showing social studies and science work completed during the summer.

GLAZING CLAY FINISH . . . Jo Ann Larson and Mark Hendrix, students in Mrs. Eleanor Courtney's second and third grade class at Waleria School, apply glaze to clay fish which they made during summer school. The mosaic and clay ceramic work was the result of a study of marine life along the California coast. The fish are impressions of marine animals.

'Sound of Music' Cast To Tour Pacific Area

The Alps mountains have packed up their snow and left for the South Pacific.

And traveling with the mountains and the snow are members of the South Bay Players who comprise the cast of the group's production of "The Sound of Music." The newly organized group includes members of entertainment professions who live in the area. It was recently selected by the U. S. Department of Defense to travel to the Far East to entertain American troops.

The troupe left yesterday and will stop in Japan, China, Korea, the Philippines, and—possibly—Viet Nam. Each of the cast members also has a speciality act to perform after "The Sound of Music." "The Sound of Music" tells the story of the famous Trapp

Coed Studies Under County Scholarship

Jill Manning, 20-year-old college student who resides in Torrance with her grandmother, Mrs. Gladys Baskins, is participating in a ten-week summer scholarship to study mental health work.

The scholarship, one of five provided by the Mental Health Association of Los Angeles County, is for a work study program developed by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education to introduce college students to opportunities in the mental health field, according to Alan N. Ducommun, president of the association.

Jill's study includes classes at San Diego State College plus several weeks of working in a state mental hospital.

An honor student at Westmont College, she will enter her junior year in September.

North Senior Is Delegate To JA Meet

Delegate to the 22nd annual National Achievers Conference to be held at the University of Indiana from Aug. 22 to 27 will be Scott Hanlon, 2137 W. 183rd St.

The young business executive will join more than 1,000 other Junior Achievers, representing the 114,000 teenagers who operated more than 5,000 JA companies during the past school year.

Runner-up in the Southland President-of-the-Year contest, 16 year old Scott Hanlon was president of Slice Master Products. Counselor was National Cash Register in Hawthorne. The North High School student will be a senior this fall.

Quartermaster J. C. Nicholas J. Kaiser, USN, son of Mrs. Frieda H. Hopkins of 24232 Ward St., is serving aboard the submarine USS Razorback, currently in transit to the western Pacific for operation with the Seventh Fleet.

Prior to her deployment, Razorback conducted numerous communications, engineering and weapons exercises in addition to a two-week long anti-submarine warfare exercise with other Pacific Fleet submarines.
